

RevolutionHealth

Last Updated Thursday, 29 March 2007

Wonder what Steve Case has been up to since he left AOL?

Well, it seems he has set his sites on revolutionizing health care. RevolutionHealth launched a few weeks ago. I don't know if this is "the one", since many other techies have blunted their lances on the dysfunctional, entrenched windmill that is the US Healthcare "System" (and I use the term "system" loosely since I would suggest that the system more resembles a giant Ponzi scheme). Anyway, not to let a good opportunity to take a wild ride escape me, I've created a blog (you'll have to search for it) on RevolutionHealth and will plan to contribute as much intellectual property derived from the assets of Medical Multimedia Group that I can.

Viva la revolucion!

Randale

Wonder what Steve Case has been up to since he left AOL?

Well, it seems he has set his sites on revolutionizing health care. RevolutionHealth launched a few weeks ago. I don't know if this is "the one", since many other techies have blunted their lances on the dysfunctional, entrenched windmill that is the US Healthcare "System" (and I use the term "system" loosely since I would suggest that the system more resembles a giant Ponzi scheme). Anyway, not to let a good opportunity to take a wild ride escape me, I've created a blog (you'll have to search for it) on RevolutionHealth and will plan to contribute as much intellectual property derived from the assets of Medical Multimedia Group that I can.

Viva la revolucion!

Randale

Read article: <http://www.secrest.com/?p=31>.